P r o g r a m m e r

Hardworking student looking for a job, ready to use my skills and passion. I have analytical and problem-solving skills, which allows me to effectively identify and solve technical difficulties when developing web applications. I am committed to constantly expanding my knowledge through self education, participation in courses. Teamwork in software projects has enabled me to develop my communication and collaboration skills with other team members. I want to be part of a dynamic IT environment where I can grow, engage in interesting projects and contribute my skills to create innovative solutions for users.
